Digital Archives

If the place or date is not known, a name search of indexed records on the National Archives of Norway may be conducted at <https://www.digitalarkivet.no/en> (digital archives). You may then conduct searches in various databases.

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar of the Digitalarkivet website. It includes the logo 'DA DIGITALARKIVET', a 'Go to old version' link, a 'Login' button with a user icon, a 'Language' dropdown menu with a globe icon, and a 'Menu' button with a hamburger icon. Below the navigation bar is a section titled 'Search in our archives' containing a grid of nine search options: 'Search for individuals' (Search for individuals), 'Scanned material' (Search for digitised archives), 'Find source' (Advanced search in more sources), 'Property' (Information about property and registration), 'Censuses' (Search in censuses), 'Parish registry' (Search in parish registries), 'Law and justice' (Court and probate records), 'Search help' (How to search in the digital archives), and 'More searches' (Access more searches). Below this grid is a section titled 'New searches' containing three options: 'Image search' (New search in images), 'Critical editions' (Search source), and 'Machine read documents' (Search in documents).

Doing this search for Bersvend Jensen born in Singsås from 1805 to 1815, however, only turns up one result, which is for an older brother, also named Bersvend, who died in 1807. This illustrates the limitations of reliance on digital data, the value of the Norwegian farm books, and the importance of looking at original records.
